

REV. JOHN AXTON ARMY CHAPLAIN

Secretary of Y. M. C. A. Ordained to Ministry.

EFFORTS OF SENATOR KEARNS

WELL KNOWN CHRISTIAN WORKER TO GET NICE PLUM.

(Special to The Herald.)
Washington, June 6.—Senator Kearns called on the president for the day and recommended the appointment of the Rev. John T. Axton of Utah as chaplain in the army. Senator Kearns is hopeful of securing the appointment.

UST as soon as the president makes the appointment and the senate confirms, John T. Axton, secretary of the Young Men's Christian association in this city, will be a chaplain in the United States army.

Those of Mr. Axton's friends who have known of the probability of his securing an appointment to some office will not be at all surprised that he is about to secure a most desirable position, but others of his friends will take the news as a surprise until they learn that it has been his intention for several months past to enter the ministry so as to put himself in line for appointment to an army chaplaincy. Since Tuesday Mr. Axton has been endeavoring to carry the title of reverend.

Mr. Axton was a member of the legislature which elected Mr. Kearns senator, and shortly after the senatorial contest was settled, the senator suggested to Mr. Axton that he ought to aspire for a position as chaplain. This suggestion was seconded by Mr. Axton, and shortly after Senator Kearns informed the Y. M. C. A. secretary that he believed his chance of securing the coming of a chaplain in the navy, but on account of the separation from his family which the holding of such a position would require, Mr. Axton declined to consider the senator's kind offices in his behalf, although the salary of the naval chaplaincy would be larger than a like position in the army.

Senator and Minister Advised It.
From then until Senator Kearns was in Salt Lake last month the matter rested. Although Mr. Axton could have been appointed to some civil or political office, he desired to have a position which he could hold for life, or during good behavior. While the senator was in this city recently the proposition to have Mr. Axton appointed to an army chaplaincy was again suggested, and the assurance was given that the opportunity seemed now favorable for gaining the desired place.

As stated by Mr. Axton last evening, when the propriety of his fitting himself for becoming an army chaplain was suggested in the first instance, he sought the counsel of a number of prominent Congregational ministers throughout the city, and after consultation he was assured by them that there would be nothing inconsistent in the proposition, because his experience and training would make it a natural step from the Y. M. C. A. to the Christian association to army chaplain.

Moreover, it was recalled by the advisory clergymen that the Young Men's Christian association work is being extended rapidly in the army, that President Roosevelt is an ardent advocate of Christian association work, and that two or three secretaries had recently been appointed to army chaplaincies.

Getting Into the Ministry.
Recently, through correspondence with Senator Kearns and with the war department, Mr. Axton decided to submit himself for examination and ordination as a minister of the gospel, just as other association secretaries have done, with the consent of the ministers of his church, as previously given. Accordingly, a special conference of the church in Utah was called last Tuesday in the Phillips Congregational church in this city. Attending it were prominent clergymen and laymen throughout the state.

In the opinion of those who are competent to judge, the examination to which Mr. Axton was subjected was a rigid one. It lasted five hours through out Tuesday afternoon and evening, and embraced a test of his theological knowledge, collegiate training and natural attainments. Pastoral minister, Mr. Axton was ordained a full-fledged minister of the gospel, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Dr. C. T. Brown, the Rev. P. A. Simpkins, the Rev. Mr. Ritchie and the Rev. Mr. Hogan.

The fact of the ordination of the Rev. John T. Axton was communicated to Senator Kearns, together with the endorsements received by the War department from a sufficient number of recognized clergymen of his fitness for an army chaplaincy. That the senator has placed the chaplaincy of his friend and supporter's appointment properly before the president is evident from The Herald's special dispatch received from Washington. Although it is said that as much as a full year is required to get an appointment of this kind as for a position as ambassador, Mr. Axton secured no endorsements of a political character.

Sketch of Mr. Axton.
Mr. Axton is one of the popularly known young men of Salt Lake, where he was born thirty-one years ago. He was educated at Hammond Hall academy and upon graduation entered the employ of the Co-op Wagon & Machine company. In December, 1898, "Johnny," as he is familiarly known, accepted the secretaryship of the Y. M. C. A., and since that time has succeeded through his earnest and effective work in bringing the association out of a struggle for existence to a flourishing institution with an active membership of over 400. He is prominent in athletic sports.

During the past four years Mr. Axton has been superintendent of the Congregational Sunday school and in this position, as the chief working officer of the Christian association and a member of the Ministerial association, he has imbibed theology to such an extent that he has been frequently called to occupy the pulpits of various churches and to perform ministerial rites for the dead. His personality is magnetic, and as a pulpit orator he is regarded as but just entering upon a career of great promise. His work has been in the natural direction of an army chaplain's duties.

Chaplain's Job Is Desirable.
The position to which Mr. Axton will be appointed is desirable from a monetary standpoint, apart from considerations of having large opportunities to work effectively in behalf of the Christian association in the army. It pays a salary of $1,800 yearly, besides travel allowances and a travel pass, which makes it worth $2,500, with a raise of salary every five years. It is a life position and he will have the rank of captain.

Mr. Axton believes that he will be sent to the Philippines, but wherever he is detailed to go he will take his wife, little son and two daughters with him.

This morning Mr. Axton will leave for Mountain Lake, Md., to attend the

STREET CAR WITH LIGHTS OUT, COASTING DOWN HILL, CAUSES TERRIBLE ACCIDENT

Speeding south on Seventh East street at 10 o'clock last night, a street car crashed into a buggy containing Milton Jones and Miss Myrtle Wells. The occupants of the buggy were dragged about seventy-five feet before the car could be stopped and injuries were inflicted which may result in the death of the young man.

The buggy, which was driven by Murray, was driving on Thirteenth South street when they reached Seventh East. The young woman held the reins and the man was supposed to have applied both the air brakes and the current had been disconnected and the car had been running full speed down the hill without lights and with the trolley off the wire. Neither the motorman nor the occupants of the buggy realized the impending danger.

The buggy was nearing the tracks when the motorman saw it approaching and immediately reversed the lever and applied the brakes. He is said to have seen the buggy when at a distance of ten or twelve feet ahead. He was too late, however, and with a crash the two collided.

The buggy was overturned and the occupants hurled headlong in front of the rapidly moving car. Crushing and grinding the rig into fragments the car continued, striking the young man and woman. Shoving them along in its course the huge and unwieldy car plowed their bodies through the dust a distance of seventy-five feet before it was finally brought to a standstill. Passengers leaped from the car and rushed to the assistance of the couple. Unconscious and smeared with a thick coating of dust, the young man and woman were removed to the home of Pat Riley, nearby. Physicians were summoned, and Dr. H. A. Anderson responded. The wounds of the young woman were found to be slight, a deep scalp wound and numerous other bruises only being found. The young man, however, retained consciousness only for a few moments and was unable to explain how the accident happened.

None of the passengers of the car was able to explain exactly how the accident happened, but a number declared that the lights were out and that the car was speeding down the street without a headlight.

The young woman was left at Mr. Riley's home and will be sent to Murray's home, where she is expected to remain until she can be taken to Dr. Anderson's private hospital.
